

U. S., FRENCH FORCES SMASH HITLER LINE

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

CONTINUED SUCCESS of the Allied drive in Italy will be bound to have a salutary effect on the European neutrals and wretched Axis satellites.

Indeed, when the Allied invasion of western Europe has been successfully inaugurated, and the assault on Hitler's fortress is under way from all sides, we're likely to see a sharp swing of the neutrals and Hitlerian partners towards the United Nations. This is the main idea, it strikes me, of the offensive in Italy—to repair the damage done to Allied prestige by the delay in cracking the Gustav line which now has been obliterated.

The point is, of course, that most of these little countries haven't been masters of their own fate but have been sitting under the Fuhrer's big guns. Once the Nazi devil is trapped and their security is guaranteed, their moral support—and in some cases active aid—is likely to be flung to the Allies.

Pending the arrival of that favorable moment, the Big Three—America, Britain and Russia—are compelled to use strong-arm methods in the cases of neutrals which are giving invaluable aid to Hitler. Among the most urgent cases is that of Sweden whose export trade with Germany includes ball bearings, which are among the most vital of war material.

Pressure from the Big Three, both intimations of economic sanctions and offers to purchase Sweden's entire output of ball bearings, has failed to move Stockholm. The situation has become so acute that the U. S. War department is said to be urging stern measures.

Why does Stockholm take this stand? The answer from what I understand to be the Swedish viewpoint is interesting, though unsatisfactory to the Big Three at this most crucial moment of the world war.

They tell us that the vast majority of the Swedish people are with the Allies at heart. The reason they're not in the war on our side is because they have, right up to now, been faced with these hard alternatives—either to maintain neutrality of commit national suicide. One hostile gesture from Sweden and Hitler would have treated her as he did Norway and the rest.

Germany's pay for not attacking Sweden has been essential to her from the latter. It also has suited his purpose to sell Sweden necessities like coal, chemicals and iron, etc. It's important to note that the Nazis control Swedish waters and that only by Hitler's

U. S. Bombers Blast Reich Again Today

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, May 19.—American Fortresses and Liberators and fighter escorts, described officially as a strong force and probably numbering up to 1,500 planes, resumed the Allied aerial offensive after a five-day lapse today and struck at targets in the Berlin and Brunswick areas.

The attack, coming less than 24 hours after Gen. Henry H. Arnold, chief of U. S. Army Air Forces, had declared Germany had not yet seen the full weight of Allied air power, precipitated a running air battle right across Germany to the sky over the German capital, German broadcasts indicated.

GERMANS FEAR REDS ATTACKS

Bomb Soviet Concentrations; Hint Air Invasion of Britain

BY JAMES M. LONG
LONDON, May 19.—Heavy new German bombings of communications and concentrations behind the Russian front indicated today the Nazis expect an immediate renewal of the Red army's offensive—a mighty thrust which the enemy said would be coordinated with invasion from the west.

Hitler's command reported heavy bombing blows on the rail stations of Rowne, Sarny and Solbunovo, suggesting the Germans expected the new drive to explode on the central Polish front. There the Russians have been massing at the nearest point to the heart of the Reich—as close to Berlin as the American and British invasion forces are in this island.

German propaganda kept up a scattergun guesswork locating the potential invasion on virtually every beachhead from Norway to the Bay of Biscay. The Luftwaffe shifted its moonless night reconnaissance from south England to Scotland.

A German broadcast heard in Turkey suggested the final flooding of the Dutch defense system might be under way. The people of whole

JAP-HELD DUTCH BASE IS BOMBED

(By Associated Press)
The Japanese-controlled Batavia radio announced last night that Soerabaja, Java, Japan's main base in the Netherlands East Indies and former headquarters of the Dutch eastern fleet, has been bombed heavily.

Soerabaja lies 1,300 miles west of Darwin, Australia, and was occupied by Japan March 8, 1942. A powerful task force, including an American aircraft carrier under the command of Admiral Sir James Somerville, commander-in-chief of the British eastern fleet, at Ceylon, last was reported in action April 19 when it attacked Sabang and Sumatra at the western end of the Dutch East Indies.

Soerabaja is the once powerful Dutch naval base on Java. Tokyo said "some damage" was done in installations in the first attack by carrier planes, but claimed three of the attacking planes were shot down by ground defenses and two more were damaged in the second attack. No mention was made of any defense by aircraft.

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Rep. Clarence Brown (R) of Blanchester, said yesterday at a hearing of a house committee investigating petroleum conditions that there was little likelihood of a gasoline ration increase in the midwest while supplies remained at the present low level.

The ensuing bombardment—the U. S. Strategic Air Force's 10th attack on the Nazi hub and the third on the capital this month—was so heavy it disrupted German news broadcasts.

From the RAF and the USAAF has taken about 46,000 tons of bombs up to today.

Channel observers said the parade of aircraft setting out for the continent today was the biggest seen during the war.

While the American "heavies" were smashing at Berlin and Brunswick, small formations of allied expeditionary air force and RAF Mosquitos, Typhoons and fighter-bombers attacked unspecified objectives in northern France this morning, taking advantage of clear skies to press home the attack.

Tracing the progress of the aerial invaders, the German broadcasts said the bombers swept over the German border, crossed the much-bombed Hannover and Brunswick areas to Brandenburg—in the Berlin area—and finally appeared over the German capital itself.

The American "heavies" last hit Berlin May 7 and 8. The RAF's Mosquitos worked the city over Tuesday night.

Follows 6-Day Lull

It was the first sign of major air activity from Britain in six days, but Allied heavy bombers last Sunday smashed at enemy targets from the Mediterranean on the concluding day of a historic 30-day record offensive.

Sergt. Wade Loop Keeps Yankee GI's Informed Overseas

AN EIGHTH AAF FIGHTER STATION, England—"See Loop"—has become a sort of stock phrase at this P-38 Lightning station, because T/Sergt. Wade H. Loop of Salem, O., has a reputation for knowing more about his fellow G. I.'s than they do themselves.

A former salesman for the Ohio Liquor Control board, Sergt. Loop is non-com in charge of the statistical section at station headquarters and spends his duty hours working with personnel records and statistical data.

"I've always wanted to know what was going on around me," said the Buckeye soldier. "That's why this job is interesting. Personnel work is not just dry-as-dust routine, as a lot of people may think."

Aside from his regular duties, Sergt. Loop is chief party organizer for his squadron. When any sort of celebration is planned for headquarters personnel, he's usually the man who takes care of the details.

The latest affair occupying his attention was a squadron party and dance held in a historic old coronation hall, where "tradition was so thick you could taste it."

The Ohio sergeant, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Loop of 1174 Cleveland st., Salem, came into the Army in February, 1942 and has had nine months of overseas service.

A graduate of Salem High school, he attended Ohio State university.

Salem Republicans Meet

Monday For Lisbon Trip

Republican central committee-men of Salem city and Perry township will meet at the Memorial building Monday evening, prepared to leave at 7:30 for Lisbon to attend the meeting of the county committee in the courthouse.

Transportation will be provided by the share-the-ride plan so only a few cars will make the trip. There are 14 committeemen in the city and two in the township.

The county committee will re-organize at the Monday night meeting in Lisbon. Indications are that Atty. Jason Brooks of East Liverpool will be elected county chairman to succeed Atty. Walter B. Hill, who has served for several years.

13 Marines Killed In North Carolina Crash

NORFOLK, Va., May 19.—Thirteen Marines were killed early today when their Navy patrol plane crashed about six miles southeast of the U. S. Marine corps air station at Cherry Point, N. C.

None aboard the aircraft survived. Fifth naval district headquarters reported in releasing news of the crash.

Part of that spectacular rescue of 22 survivors of American planes shot down off Truk, the Jap base in the Carolines, by a U. ALLIES SEIZE JAP AIRDROME

Jungle Fighters Take Field At Outskirts of Myitkyina

(By Associated Press)
SOUTHEAST ASIA HEADQUARTERS, Kandy, Ceylon, May 19.—Brig. Gen. Frank Merrill's jungle-fighting American and Chinese infantry, with Airborne reinforcements, have penetrated the outskirts of Myitkyina after capturing the town's airdrome, it was announced today.

The airdrome was seized two days ago in a surprise attack. It lies two miles south of the town.

While troops poured in to the field by air from other elements of Lt. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's forces, another Merrill column occupied the village of Nawraw Sakan and threw a block across the Mogaung-Myitkyina road.

An official announcement said other troops were thrusting toward Myitkyina from the north.

Meanwhile on the India side of the Indo-Burma warfare, an Indian army brigade in a sudden slashing attack by circuitous march through the jungle threw a road block across the Tiddim road south of Imphal to the south of the enemy's main position. Allied headquarters announced.

This march through the roughest eastern flank cut off the Japanese 33rd division which had been attacking Imphal from the south.

The communiqué said many casualties were inflicted by the Gurkhas making up the brigade which repulsed Japanese counterattacks, and much equipment was captured.

North of Imphal, at the one enemy roadblock remaining between that base and Kohima, Allied troops repulsed a series of night attacks, it was stated.

47 R.A.F. Officers Attempting To Escape Germany Are Shot

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, May 19.—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden disclosed today 47 RAF officers had been shot by Germans after a mass escape from a war prison camp near Dresden March 25.

Seventy-six officers participated in the break, Eden told the house, of commons. Fifteen were reported captured alive, and 14 still at large. Some were shot resisting arrest and some in the course of a new escape attempt after they were captured, Eden said.

The government is profoundly shocked by this news and I have urgently requested the protecting power (Switzerland, through which notification of the deaths came to the relatives and the Air Ministry) to demand from the German government a full and immediate report of the circumstances in which these men met their deaths, and an explanation of its failure to report the facts at once to the protecting power," Eden said.

The men were members of the "RAF Dominion Allied" air forces, the customary terminology embracing the RCAF, RAAF, RNZAF and other national groups in the RAF like the Poles, Dutch and Norwegians.

As far as is known there were no Americans involved, although Eden did not say so specifically. The dead included several heroes of the battle of Britain and other spectacular RAF operations.

The shooting was disclosed by German authorities to a representative of the protective power "in the course of a routine visit to the camp April 17," Eden said.

Commandery Holds Ascension Service

The afternoon service featured a sermon by Rev. George D. Keister, pastor of the Holy Trinity Lutheran church. The Scripture reading was given by George A. Hempstead, prelate of the commandery, and Mrs. Doris Stiver sang a solo.

The Presbyterian church octet gave several selections before and after the dinner. The octet includes Mrs. Robert Talbot, Mrs. Doris Stiver, Miss Marie Callahan, Miss Ora Vincent, Daniel Holloway, Robert Wentz, F. W. Davis and W. Wentz Alsbaugh. Miss Anna Cook was the accompanist.

17 Mile Gain In Sant' Oliva Region Made

(By Associated Press)
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, May 19.—French troops and U. S. tanks broke into the Hitler line at its very center today in a smash toward Sant' Oliva, a front dispatch declared, as the Allies hammered all along the front at this new mountain wall manned by the Germans after "a disorderly retreat."

(By Associated Press)
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, May 19.—Allied troops assaulted the Hitler line along a 25-mile front today, with U. S. forces striking toward the key Apennine way junction of Itri, and French troops carving deeper into German mountain defenses in the middle.

(The German high command, reporting the heaviest fighting in the center, at Pontecorvo and to the southwest, acknowledged a "local dent" in the Hitler line at Sant' Oliva but said it was "sealed off." This indicated a French-driven wedge toward the mountain only some four miles from Pico, on the inland road from threatened Itri.)

Poles of the Eighth army, pushing beyond fallen Cassino on the northern flank, fought within a mile and a half of Piedimonte, four miles west of Cassino near Highway 6—the road to Rome.

On the central sector south of the Liri valley, Fifth army forces reached a point 17 miles air line from their jumping-off place of the week-old Allied offensive by taking a 4,129-foot monte Faggeto overlooking the Itri-Pico road, the enemy's only communication link between the ends of the now-dented Hitler line.

French troops yesterday captured the village of Monticelli, four miles northwest of Esperia, and drove on toward Sant' Oliva, generally regarded as one of the strong points of the Hitler line.

Monticelli has been described as situated in the heart of the area where the Hitler line defenses guard the edge of the Liri valley.

Exploit New Gains
The Allied command declared the Americans were in close contact with the battered enemy in the mountains forming the southern strongholds of the Hitler line and asserted the Eighth army, "quick to exploit its successes" in the Cassino region, "pressed the enemy vigorously back against the line."

On the west coast, Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's Americans mopped up the few snipers left in captured Formia and a spokesman declared other Fifth army units were "poised before Itri" without specifying how near that junction the advanced elements had progressed. It was disclosed yesterday, however, that they were less than two miles from the town even on the preceding day. Through Itri runs the enemy's only avenue of retreat from the Gaeta point sector to the southeast.

A glow lighted the skies even as far south as Naples before dawn today and it was believed the Germans were destroying ammunition and other dumps at Gaeta from where their long-range artillery has been operating in recent weeks.

Allied warships poured shells against enemy batteries, dumps and roads west of that point yesterday in close support of the ground forces. An official announcement said retaliatory fire from German shore batteries was ineffective.

In addition to bombing and strafing the Germans in the battle area, Allied air forces yesterday struck into the Balkans. Heavy bombers attacked the Rumanian oil refineries at Ploesti and rail yards in Yugoslavia at Belgrade and Nis, and in Rumania at Turmu-Severin. At least 13 of more than 100 German fighters encountered at Ploesti were shot down, headquarters said.

Raf Wellingtons and Liberators attacked points just beyond the battle line last night.

Back from the Tyrrhenian coast American and French guns rained shells on the Itri-Pico road.

VERTICAL BARGAINING

If steel workers obtained higher wage rates on the claim that tax increases have cut their net incomes, argued Dr. Jules Bachman, New York university economist, at resumption of hearings on the steel wage case this week, WLB would be trespassing on the congressional prerogative of imposing federal taxes. The point is well made, but it is too narrow.

The steel wage case is being argued before WLB on a much broader basis than tax relief for the members of one union. The union is claiming the right to be relieved, also, of other wartime subtraction from gross income. It is claiming this, moreover, in behalf of every wage earner whose income is regulated by the "little steel" formula. If the formula is put aside, the inevitable result will be nationwide revision of wage rates—upward.

This is an experiment in vertical bargaining. There is no claim made by steel workers that cannot be made by other wage earners, by all persons on salaries and by employers. No one has been immune to the drain which war has made on personal, corporate and national income. The cost of the war is destined to be an absolute deduction of national and dollar values, whatever may be done by way of manipulation to conceal it for temporary periods.

WLB and the whole Roosevelt administration are under tremendous pressure to follow a soft policy of concealment of war costs; in an election year, the pressure may well prove overwhelming. But a national rise in wage rates could be granted only at the expense of all taxpayers, including the immediate beneficiaries of the rise, who are also taxpayers. Success of the vertical bargaining now in progress could result only in the ultimate betrayal of the bargain.

PLAIN WORDS, PLAIN RESULTS

Decision of the leadership of the Foremen's Association of America to call off its strike against Detroit war plants followed plain words from the war and navy departments and, plainest of all, from Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the army air force. "It is inconceivable from our point of view," said Gen. Arnold, "how you can have strikes which stop war production on materials which are so essential they may even stop operations in connection with the bombings in Germany." Thereupon, the strike was called off.

Gen. Arnold has expressed clearly the fixed opinion of every member of the armed services. The significance of his statement, however, is not what he said, but the fact he said it, instead of a civilian official. It hints at a new and more forthright technique of handling work stoppages. A general's word, under the circumstances, carries infinitely more weight than the word of a civilian official, even though the extremity which makes this true is a disturbing reflection on the attitude of those who have made it necessary.

Neither Gen. Arnold nor any other high military official—nor, for that matter, any fighting man whose welfare is affected by work stoppages in essential war industry—is concerned with the relative merits of labor disputes. Members of the armed services have a job to do. They can do it if they are supported by the civilian population. Without support, they cannot do it. It is that simple in the showdown. A few plain words may bring more plain results than all the complex formulas and confusing arguments brought to bear on the problem of making civilians accept their responsibility in the nation's greatest war.

THE FUNCTION OF DIVERSION

George Ade, generous contributor to the humor of his times, is dead—just when we need him. A grateful public can only hope that Indiana may turn out an adequate replacement.

The function of diversion cannot be slighted with safety. It is as essential to our sanity as the companion function of serious single-mindedness which sometimes seems to be getting the upper hand. There is acute need for the George Ade—articulate specialists in the art of keeping open the safety valve of laughter.

It is painfully evident lately that the past masters in the field are reaching the end of the line. Irvin Cobb is dead. Ring Lardner, Will Rogers and Joe Cook are missed. Perhaps their places are being taken; perhaps Jack Benny, Edgar Bergen, Fred Allen and the new school of radio script readers will be raised to the status of masters in due course of time.

But there is a present doubt; the function of diversion demands considerably more than a high Crossley rating. It entails an attitude and a philosophy of humor which the George Ades have had and the rest of us have profited by. Without it, the more abundant life is a snare and a delusion, a barren prospect of endless prosperity and work without a giggle in it anywhere.

THOUGHT FOR D-DAY

Allied troops in Italy have reached the Hitler line, first German defense network to be named for the fuhrer. They reached it because they were willing to pay the price for breaching the Gustav line. They will go through it, if that is what the plan calls for, by the same bloody bargaining for victory. The Maginot line, the Mareth line, the Gustav line, the Hitler line—all the lines that have been or will be—cannot stand up against a determined enemy equipped with plenty of material and a comprehensive plan of attack. Fixed defenses can make victory costly. They can prolong campaigns. They can give beleaguered populations a false sense of security. But they cannot stave off defeat.

THE STARS SAY:

For Saturday, May 20

ALTHOUGH this may be a very lively day, with energies quickened to new plans for progress and development of static situations, yet there is definite need for adhering to the rules and regulations, and not going counter to the law or public interest in any respect. Also try to keep to conservation and protection of funds. Suppress tendencies to rash speculation or gambling. In affectional matters there might be pretty friction, possibly through thoughtless words.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may expect a very lively and progressive year with plans and programs to develop lagging conditions, with a spurt into higher channels of production. However there is a tendency to take unjustifiable chances, speculative ventures, to be lax with words and writings, and probably with a lean to running counter to proper codes and public laws and regulations. Funds should not be jeopardized in doubtful investments. In the private affairs there may be friction due to unguarded acts or words.

A child born on this day may have a tendency to venture into doubtful connections in business, to side step codes and to waste its substance on personal indulgences.

PROTECTING YOUNG WOMANHOOD

CLEVELAND, May 19.—Military authorities "are more concerned with protecting servicemen from disease than they are with protecting the virtue of our young womanhood," declared a Louisiana juvenile court judge here today.

Judge Chris Barnette of Shreveport, La., told the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges a serviceman arrested on morals charges in Louisiana is turned over to military authorities and "if he is in good health, the case is dropped."

"Meanwhile, the girl faces the music alone," asserted Judge Barnette. "Her case raises the total number against juvenile girls, thus creating an inaccurate picture of the situation because the persons contributing to her delinquency are not put on record."

"It is my firm conviction that the military authorities are making a big blunder when they fail to take into consideration the protection of these young girls who will be the future mothers of America."

The judges' conference was one of several held today as more than 3,000 representatives of 600 social and welfare organizations opened a week and a half of conferences. The delegates were greeted by a telegram from President Roosevelt, who asserted social workers have a "definite responsibility to the fighting forces and to the nation."

Survey Tells Tales On Dentists' Teeth

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

notoriously have gone without shoes and someone with a streak of malice has followed up this fundamental idea of examining a group of 350 dentists to see how good their own teeth were. If they had been in A 1, bang up, splendid shape it would have caused widespread disappointment and there would have been no story. So it will not come as a great surprise to find that the dentists have apparently not been too faithful in following out their own injunctions to see your dentist twice a year. The final conclusion was that the mouths of the dentists under study were in need of considerable restorative work.

The age of the dentists was 21 to 65. The average number of teeth per mouth that had been retained by the dentists was twenty-seven, quite high considering the wide age range group. It undoubtedly shows that the dentists paid far more attention to their own advice in an attempt at preserving their teeth than the general population. A comparative study of dental students who had naturally the advantage of being in a much younger age group showed that they had on the average only about two teeth missing per mouth to the dentists' five.

Condition of Teeth

But the dentists had some calculus in the mouth in three-quarters of those examined and over a third of them had metallic restorations that had been allowed to go on to secondary decay. There were about two teeth per mouth that showed some evidence of decay.

All this is very refreshing. It shows that dentists are human after all. It is perfectly human to dread going to a dentist and dentists share this human trait. It is quite possible that they may even be a little sorry for us while they are working that devilish little rat-tat-tat on our sensitive nerve endings.

Another interesting and important study which the American Dental association has kindly sent me is on edentulous mouths, that is, mouths that are entirely without teeth. You may have a rosy thought that if all your teeth are out you are going to have no trouble with teeth for the rest of your life, but such is not the case. You won't have pyorrhea, that is true, and edentulous mouths are entirely free of the Vincent's germs that get in between the teeth and the gums, causing pyorrhea and so often go further and cause tonsillitis and sore throat.

Retained Root Tips
The troubles that may arise to plague the person who fondly thinks all his teeth are out is that some root tips have been left in and these can often cause trouble. An X-ray study of the mouths of 381 patients showed the extraordinary fact that 122 of them had retained root tips. Most of them had been wearing dentures over the retained tips for many years and while some of them complained of no discomfort many had more or less vague pains and irritations for which they knew no cause until the retained roots showed up on the X-ray.

The lesson is that X-ray studies should be made before and after extraction of teeth to see that no fragments have been left in the jaws. The time to get them out is at the time of extraction. It is advisable not to try to remove the retained roots. The situation should be explained to the patient.

Busses Cease Operating To Akron Plant Saturday

The AC Motor Transport will cease Saturday to operate its busses now hauling Salem men and women to the Goodyear Aircraft plant in Akron. A. C. Long, the proprietor, announced today.

This decision was the result of a sudden decline in passengers. Only 15 of the 103 who make the trip daily from Salem to Akron. The passengers are now sharing the ride with drivers who were required to show they haul at least three workers in order to get gasoline.

The 90 now traveling in private cars are being hauled by 53 drivers, less than two to a car.

Mining For a Diamond

HELENA, Mont. — Last summer Miss Nan Schubert lost a valuable diamond ring in Lake Helena. Friends marked the spot where she thought she lost it and eight months later when the water was low, they dug for six hours. They washed the mud through an old bed screen and finally, out of the last shovelful, the diamond sparkled.

Lack Of Diversions Hits Yanks Hard During South Pacific Lull

(Editor's note: The following dispatch concerning the entertainment problem for servicemen in the South Pacific was written by James F. Lowery, who recently returned to the United States after a tour of duty as a United Press war correspondent in that area.)

By JAMES F. LOWERY
United Press Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO—Although the pace of the Pacific war is greater than ever before, inactivity is still one of the foremost "bugaboos" facing America's fighting men.

As long as there is a battle raging or about to rage, the men are happy and content because they are occupied. But when the inevitable lulls occur they become like caged lions.

Greenford Seniors Will Hear Sermon

GREENFORD, May 19 — Baccalaureate service will be held at 8 p. m. Sunday evening at the Greenford High school. The program is as follows:

Processional, Barbara Kindig; music, High school chorus; invocation, Rev. E. O. Hill; response, school chorus; music, "The Prayer Perfect"; school chorus; Scripture reading, Rev. E. L. Grer; music, school chorus.

Sermon, "The True Work of Life," Rev. Alfred J. Cook; benediction, Rev. Alfred J. Cook; response, school chorus; recessional, Barbara Kindig. Chorus accompanist is Lois Calvin; director, John W. Remick. There are 22 graduates in the class.

Greenford grange plans an interesting program for Rural Sunday, May 28, at the grange hall. The public is invited to attend.

There will be a coverdinner before the program. A memorial service for grange members who died during the past year will be held.

The lemur, a nocturnal prowler in African jungles, is about the size of a baby fox and its name in Latin means "ghost."

Famous Maids

Nearly every camp has movies, but they get tiresome. Also, someone makes the mistake of shipping "blood and thunder" films to the men, which are more ridiculous than entertaining to men who know more about war than any Hollywood producer.

It's laughs they don't have enough of—things to divert their attention from depressing thoughts of being away from their families and homes.

Want "Latest" Newspapers? The USO and its entertainers are doing their best, but they cannot reach all. The American Red Cross, along with welfare officers in every service, are fighting the problem, but it is a hard problem to lick.

Mail from home is still the greatest morale booster of all and, realizing that the services have taken pains to see that the men get it, it is nothing to get a letter from the United States in six days in New Caledonia or 10 days at Guadalcanal. At advance bases it is a few days longer, but mail is considered almost as important as food and shipped to the men simultaneously by plane and ship.

The request has been made time and again for reading "matter for the men overseas, but there still is not enough. There are books, but for the most part they are ones most of the men read years before the war. What they want are current newspapers, magazines so they can keep in touch with the life they are fighting to preserve and return to as soon as possible.

Flood In Dust Storm

JOHNSON, Kas.—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Aller arrived home in a dust storm the other day and were surprised to find a small flood in their own back yard. A huge western Kansas thistle attached itself to an outdoor hydrant and the wind whipped it so hard it turned on the water.

Labor Disputes In Scattered Sections Leave 15,000 Idle

(By Associated Press)
More than a dozen labor disputes in widely scattered sections of the country continued today, keeping an estimated 15,000 workers away from their jobs.

Controversies at some plants reached the stage whereby employees at any individual plant, affected a variety of industries and touched four sections of the country—in the east, south, midwest and west.

In Michigan, where disputes in Detroit and other cities had slowed production in war plants, operations were returning to normal. A threatened general strike of 45,000 members of Detroit locals of the AFL Teamsters union was averted yesterday, following the end of the strike of the Independent Foreman's Association of America on Wednesday.

The proposed teamsters strike was prevented after a conference of regional War Labor board officials and spokesmen for rival AFL and CIO unions.

There were 1,400 idle at the Buck motor division aluminum foundry in Flint, Mich., after a strike of 24 metal pourers.

In Birmingham, two separate disputes caused 2,200 employees to leave their jobs. About 1,200 workers of the Pullman Standard Car Mfg. Co. walked out, virtually stopping production of freight cars at the Bessemer plant, while approximately 1,000 miners walked out of four Birmingham coal mines.

The 3,000 striking employees of the Mack Manufacturing Co. of Allentown, Pa., voted last night to return to work. Between 300 and 425 iron workers and riggers returned to their jobs on a war project near Clinton, Tenn.

Cork oak trees grow to 30 feet in height, and their trunks "gape" diameters of three or more feet.

Nazis Say Defense Line In Italy Never Existed

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, May 19.—A German broadcast assertion that there is no such thing as an Adolf Hitler line in Italy was echoed today by the Nazi-controlled Rome radio.

The office of war information said Rome, following in the path outlined yesterday by the Berlin radio, had declared:

"Enemy propaganda statements that the Adolf Hitler line has been reached and passed are pure imagination, since such a defense line has never existed anywhere on the Italian front."

"It is true on the other hand, that during the fighting in the past few hours the Allies and their mercenaries have been unable to prevent German units from reaching in perfect order lines farther to the rear, which were prepared some time ago."

Movie Stars To Wed

HOLLYWOOD, May 19.—Motion Picture Actress Paulette Goddard and Air Forces Capt. Burgess Meredith, former stage and screen actor, have announced they will be married in a private ceremony Sunday in nearby Beverly Hills.

"Probably the only time I'll get top billing," commented Meredith yesterday when the couple obtained a marriage license at Santa Monica.

WLB May Prevent Cleveland Tieup

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, May 19.—The Cleveland Transit board and the AFL Street Railway union today had an offer of the services of the regional War Labor board in settling a wage dispute which threatens to paralyze the city's mass transportation system at midnight Saturday.

Acting in response to a request by Mayor Frank J. Lausche for "reliable advice in respect to the wage issues" raised by the unionists who voted to strike after the transit board refused to meet in full their request for a seven cent hourly increase. Board Chairman Frederick H. Bullen offered to have the WLB hear the case if the union would agree to join the transit board in submitting the issues.

A telegram from Bullen to the mayor emphasized that "any opinion rendered by the board on wage matters would be based upon existing national wage stabilization policy" and that "the merits of any disputes, issues in any case cannot be heard or decided while a work stoppage is in progress."

Meanwhile plans to offset the threatened idleness of street cars and buses were formulated by municipal and federal agencies. The Cleveland District Office of Price Administration announced it would provide extra gasoline for automobile owners with only A cards if a strike should occur.

FARMER FILES SUIT IN TIME DISPUTE

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, May 19.—Ohio's double time standard reached the courts today.

Jesse Hagler, a Fayette county farmer, filed in federal court a mandamus suit to compel county commissioners to set the clock on the courthouse back one hour to Ohio's official Central War time.

The clock was advanced an hour May 13 to conform with the locally adopted hour-faster Eastern War time, the standard union which virtually all communities in the state are operating during the spring and summer months.

"Slow" time was fixed officially for the state by the last legislature on grounds it would be beneficial to farmers.

Send Will Rogers Body To Oklahoma For Burial

CLAREMORE, Okla., May 19.—The body of Will Rogers will be returned to his native state, to be interred in a stone crypt at the Will Rogers Memorial here.

The humorist's casket was removed from the Glendale, Calif., cemetery today, to be sent east. Time of the services here was not made public in an effort to keep away curious crowds.

Rogers was killed in an Alaskan plane crash in 1935.

Untouched By War

RAVELLO, Italy.—This historic town, ancient watering spot for Roman senators, priests and artists, has been untouched by war although but a dozen miles from the blood-stained beaches of Salerno.

Ravello attracted many famous people. The Normans built several watchtowers and St. Francis of Assisi meditated here. In one of the grottoes Wagner wrote part of the opera "Parsifal."

Greta Garbo visited here six years ago, with Leopold Stokowski. She explained then that with war imminent she wanted to see Ravello before it might be destroyed.

U. S. BOMBERS

thundered over two hours during the morning, headed toward the continent—probably the contingent which hit Germany.

Berlin or its environs apparently took a heavy pasting, because DNB upon returning to the air after the shutdown passed a confused report broadcast of yesterday's high command communiqué.

The same thing happened after the big American raid on Berlin April 29, and apparently was due to disruption of broadcasting facilities presumably located in or close to Berlin.

As the high altitude armada swept across Europe the Vichy radio said another air assault on northern France and Belgium—a likely resumption of the attack on the enemy's anti-invasion railroads and airfields—was underway.

The Germans said heavy air battles were being fought as the Americans pierced Berlin's defenses and indicated the center of battle was over Osnabruck where the "heavies" bombed railroad yards last Saturday in the concluding strike from Britain in the month-long offensive.

Work Resumption Asked

CLEVELAND, May 19.—Sixty-five night shift workers at the Union Metal Mfg. Co., Canton, O., were requested to return to work yesterday by the Regional War Labor board.

GERMANS FEAR

villages were being moved, many to parts of eastern Europe, the report said.

Britain Assault Hinted

The Germans have massed gliders and transport planes in concealed hangars along the European coast in numbers sufficient to drop at least one airborne division on Britain, the London Daily Mail said today, asserting its information came from "excellent sources."

The British do not rule out the possibility of such a German counter-invasion. The enemy troops might be assigned to knock out nerve centers vital to the Allied war machine.

Only last Saturday, Field Marshal Lord Ironside, commander of the home guards and former chief of the British imperial defense staff, argued "it is quite possible that when we make our great invasion, the Germans will make some sort of effort to land in this country."

The Daily Mail said the German aircraft reported assembled along the channel coast included some huge six-engine Dorniers, each capable of carrying 150 men. The paper mentioned medium gliders and Junkers 52 transports as also in the enemy army.

Like the Allies, Germany presumably is concerned with safeguarding her military secrets as invasion D-day approaches. A Moscow broadcast heard here said Germany has cancelled all visas to leave the Reich and Germans reaching the frontiers are being turned back.

The DNB agency announced in a broadcast from Berlin that the Nazi air force intended to smash Portsmouth, Plymouth, Bristol and the docks of London—ports it described as "bristling—positively crammed to the bursting point—with all manner of invasion equipment."

Another Berlin broadcast confirmed previous neutral reports that Field Marshal Gen. Karl Rudolf Gerd Von Rundstedt had been named supreme commander of the German anti-invasion command.

Field Marshal Erwin Rommel was listed as a subordinate.

A Stockholm dispatch quoted a Finnish source there as saying the Allied invasion of Europe might bring about a quick Finnish peace with Russia by giving opposition parties sufficient strength to overthrow the present Helsinki government in favor of one willing to conclude an immediate armistice.

The gunners' most successful day provided a score of 5 destroyed and 11 probably destroyed, out of a force of 172 planes raiding harbor shipping, ammunition dumps and ground personnel.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Guess we're pretty lucky in our town, Judge, that we don't have the youth problem you read about in other places."

"Don't know as you can call it lucky, Harold... we saw it coming with the war and we did something about it before it hit us. We gave our 'teen age youngsters the recreational facilities they needed and really wanted. Those familiar with this wartime problem know that young folks go to places they shouldn't only when the proper places are not provided for them. Young people always want to be with others of their own age... want their own type of entertainment. Town after town has found out that once these simple wants are met, the problem is well on its way to being licked."

"Guess I didn't really know how far-sighted our town really is, Judge. If we hadn't looked ahead we wouldn't have had anybody or anything to blame but ourselves, would we?"

DEATH IN THE AFTERNOON IN ITALY

THIS SERIES of photos tragically demonstrates the bitterness of the fighting now going on in Italy. The capture of a town, a square or a street is paid for in bloodshed and death. Witness what happened to the American patrol above as it started forward (top) to wipe out enemy snipers hidden in an unnamed village. A moment after the troops race forward in a crouch, a grenade blows up (center) in their faces. The dead soldier disappears in the blast, his buddy behind him crumples downward as a bullet or grenade fragment tears into his body, the third man dives sideways to the door and the soldier in the rear flattens to the stone wall. A split second later, smoke still obscures the scene as the soldier who was hit lands in a grotesque heap and the man behind him reaches the safety of the doorway. These are Signal Corps photos from News of the Day Newsreel. (International)

F. W. OPENS FUND CAMPAIGN MONDAY

Launching a welfare campaign to raise $200 for care and transportation of returning war veterans, a local post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars announced today that a campaign will get underway on Monday. A $150 pledge already has been received. Mayor R. R. Johnson voiced his endorsement of the drive. The money raised in the campaign will go to the national organization for use in expanding the V. F. W. home at Eaton Rapids, Mich., and for aiding the 32,000 war veterans being discharged every month. Auxiliary committees to handle solicitations include: Mrs. R. E. Storing, Mrs. H. Whitemore, T. W. Thompson, Mrs. Paul E. Kistler, Mrs. N. Birkhimer, Mrs. Nicholas Hatzigan, Mrs. J. G. Ziga and Mrs. I. G. Ziga.

Nazis Try to Confuse U. S. On Invasion Guess

WASHINGTON, May 19.—Secretary of War Stimson warned the public today that current Nazi propaganda on the forthcoming invasion of Europe is designed only to confuse the Allied peoples in hopes of impeding military operations. The day will come, but it will be the one which the Nazis selected, he added, asking the public "remain cool and patient during this trying period of waiting for D-day."

M'NICOL CONVICTION UPHELD BY COURT

LISBON, May 19.—Marking the culmination of litigation, dating from October, 1941, the Seventh district Appellate court yesterday affirmed a Columbiana county jury's verdict convicting Miss Anna McNicol, former East Liverpool city auditor's clerk, of embezzlement in a municipal fund shortage, which was uncovered in 1939.

Miss McNicol, who was given a suspended sentence and placed on three years' probation after the Columbiana county trial, was indicted when state examiners reported a $10,483 shortage of East Liverpool city funds, including scrip.

The defendant testified she "never took one penny belonging to the city."

The alleged shortage developed, state examiners charged, while the defendant was clerk for City Auditor Shelton J. Overdorf, who died three months after becoming Columbiana county auditor in March, 1939.

permission could the Swedes import anything from abroad by sea. It's through his permission that Sweden has been allowed to bring oil and gasoline from the western hemisphere in her own tankers.

We've now reached the point where Danger of attack by Germany has sufficiently lessened so that the Swedes might venture to cut off all trade with the Reich—if the Allies could replace essential Swedish imports. Stoppage of Swedish exports to Germany would mean immediate cessation of Nazi exports to Sweden, and the Scandinavian neutral maintains that without these necessities she couldn't long hold out.

In view of these circumstances the offer of the Allies to buy all Sweden's ball bearings doesn't help from her viewpoint. The minute she cuts off ball bearing shipments to the Reich, all German exports to Sweden cease. In short, Stockholm apparently feels that it would be suicidal to stop trade with Germany until the Allies are able to guarantee Sweden's vital supplies. That day may not be far off.

ago, on the mainland beach near Toem, 110 miles northwest of Hollandia, at dawn Wednesday.

By nightfall, they had fanned out up and down the coast for eight miles and taken small Insoemal island, southernmost of the two comprising Wakde.

These landings were unopposed. "The enemy was completely surprised and his defense negligible," the communique said.

Rocket guns and naval guns, bombers and fighters blasted the way for the Yanks coming out of the landing boats.

By noon Thursday, they had stormed ashore on Insoemal (Wakde) behind a withering barrage of bursting rockets, shells and bombs. There was Japanese pill-box resistance here but not much. Within an hour the Yanks had pinned the enemy defenders back against Wakde's vital airfield. It was the last-ditch stand for the Japanese whom, MacArthur's communique said, "our troops are rapidly overcoming."

Wellsville Will Fete Returned Marine Hero

WELLSVILLE, May 19.—Municipal officials today prepared for a "Guidone day" celebration here honoring Second lieutenant Frank J. Guidone, a marine raider, home on furlough from the South Pacific after being awarded three letters of commendation for meritorious achievements.

A son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Guidone, he enlisted more than three years ago and spent 24 months overseas.

Exiled Armies Ready To Fight Way Back Home

AP Features
LONDON—Armies in exile—Poles, Norwegians, Dutch, Belgians, Czechs—await the hour to strike at the Nazi conqueror of their homelands. Highly-skilled mountain fighters from Norway, and commandos and parachutists from Belgium and the Netherlands, are ready.

The Dutch, Belgian, Norwegian and Czechoslovak units are small. But what they lack in size they expect to make up in special tasks alongside their big Allies.

Polish forces were reorganized after the German victory, and now more than 100,000 troops are in Britain and Italy—about a third of them in Britain.

Strong Polish tank, artillery, parachute and infantry units were built up on this island, and Polish fliers with the Royal Air Force have been hitting the Hun since before the Battle of Britain.

12,000 Polish Airmen
The Polish air force in the RAF—more than 12,000 men—have shot down 610 German planes and dropped 14,592,151 pounds of bombs since 1940.

Vessels of the Belgium, the Netherlands and Norway merchant marine have been massed. The 1,204 ships of the Norwegian merchant marine, once fourth largest in the world, proved indispensable while Britain and America rushed shipbuilding and battled U-boats. The Dutch brought 2,800,000 tons of shipping and the Belgians 350,000. The Princess Irene Brigade is the principal Dutch formation. Dutch-

Quakers Chances In N.E.O. Meet Here Tomorrow Are Good

POTTERS TROUCE NEWS 11-4, PAXSON DOWN SHEENS 7-5

Chinas Go On Hitting Spree To Out News' Pitcher In Fifth

Mutt Schaeffer turned in the best pitching show of the young softball season yesterday as he held the Sheens squad with three hits as his Paxson team copped their first win 7-5 and the Salem Chinas swamped the News aggregation, 11 to 4, behind the tight pitching of Dale Ritchie.

In spite of the five runs scored by Sheens, Schaeffer set them down with just three hits—a pair of singles by Jay Leach and Dick Scullion and a long homer to left center by Francis Lanney in the fifth. Errors set up the four runs in the first inning after Scullion's hit had started things.

In the night-cap the News took a trouncing as the Chinas banged Chet Brautigam for five hits and six runs in the second inning and added misery in the fourth when Kenst carved out a four bagger with three men on.

Take 10-0 Lead
Dale Ritchie held the News men with one hit for four innings—long enough to pile up a 10-0 lead—and then Morrison took over the assignment. The News clicked for four runs from the new hurler, two in the fifth and a pair in the last.

The Sheens-Paxson struggle got off to an interesting start with lots of hits and errors in the first inning. Paxson started it off when Lanney walked the first two batters and Mutt Schaeffer laid out a single. A double by Tom Paparodis helped things along and he scored after Brian had walked and Scullion had made an error.

Sheens came back to equal the Paxson four run spree. Scullion singled to start, Appedisian walked and an error put Davis on first. Two more errors tied the game up at 4-4.

Things went along fine until the fifth when Sheens were outdone one run by Paxson. Schaeffer singled, Pete Cibula doubled, scoring Schaeffer and Paparodis' single brought Cibula in for the second marker.

Lanney's homer, which was far enough out to give him lots of running time, accounted for the only other Sheen score. The Paxson outfit added another in the seventh for good measure.

The News-China game was all Ritchie for four innings as the veteran put the batters down in order until Charlie Malloy got the lone hit in the fourth.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, May 19.—Since the death of Lord Lonsdale, the great British sportsman, boxing folk have been wondering if anyone will continue the custom of giving belts to champions who successfully defend their titles three times. These awards have been made for over 100 years and in that time only about a half dozen have been won outright.

QUOTE, UNQUOTE
Arnold S. Denker: "All the time I was winning the national chess title, I kept thinking about the lug that tumbled me off Pensive."

A ROOKIE A DAY
Augie Bergamo, Cardinals' outfielder, Augie isn't a regular now, but with Stan Musial and Dan Lipton listening to Uncle Sam's call he figures to become an important figure in the Cards' plans. Up from Columbus where he led the American association in drawing passes and tied for the lead in hitting two baggers. Compiled a .324 batting average with plenty of clutch hits.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE
Sun again is the third $100,000 winner bred by Warren Wright, Penrose, the Derby-Preakness winner, also has earned more than 100 G's but wasn't bred at Calumet farm. Red Faber, the old White Sox pitcher, will be chief coach at a four-week baseball school sponsored by the Oak Park, Ill., playground board next month. Slip Madigan, Iowa grid coach, took a temporary job delivering newspapers in Oakland, Calif., recently when his 12-year-old son was too sick to look after his route. Bucky Walters has started 201 games since he joined the Reds in 1938 and has finished 146 of them.

LAST QUESTION
Has Judge Landis ruled yet on how and when those "incomplete" games should be counted in the polls that pay off on total scores for the week?

BROOKLYN—When the Dodgers sold Joe Medwick to the Giants last July and then traded Delf Camilli, the bleacher fans at Ebbets field dropped their cowbells and began yelling for Branch Rickey's scalp. The old everything-but-acid the Mahatma of breaking up dem Bums. But that wasn't Branch's intention at all. His idea was to bring on likely looking youngsters. They called it the youth movement along the banks of the Gowanus. Today Rickey's foresight is beginning to pay dividends.

Trainer And Jockey For Calumet Know How To Win

By CHIP ROYAL
AP Features Sports Editor
LOUISVILLE—Pardon mah southern accent, sub, but if you'll want to know the best double combination around the race tracks this year, it's Trainer Ben Jones and Jockey Conn McCreary.

Plain Ben of the Missouri Joneses is to a horse what Joe McCarthy is to a baseball team, Frank Leahy to a football squad, and Lester Patrick to a hockey sextet—the tops in getting the most out of their charges.

Before any big race in which Jones has entered one of Warren Wright's Calumet Farm horses, a better never says "I'll bet on Pensive," or "I'll bet on Sun Again." No, it's always "I'm putting my sawbuck on Ben Jones."

When the canny Eddie Arcaro was riding for shrewd Ben, the money always went on "Arcaro and Jones." It was a tough combination to beat and they wound up with two Derby winners, Lawrin in 1938 and Whirlaway in 1941.

The clever trainer and the smart jockey went different paths and became rivals for the favor of bettors. The Derby was the big race for both of them—and Jones won.

He obtained Howie (Stretch) Schultz, a long drink of water—6 foot 6½ to be exact—from St. Paul. Schultz is making some optimistic promises to make fans forget Camilli. Coach John (Red) Corriden really goes out on a limb. "Schultz looks like he might be another Hank Greenberg," says Corriden. "Why the boy is growing all the time. You can't make a mistake when he's at the plate because he's really putting wood to that horsehide."

Schultz was the talk of the Eastern section of the National League the first two weeks of the season. He belted four home runs in 11 games. Last year he hit only one round tripper in 45 games with the Dodgers.

The 21-year-old blond giant has only three seasons of organized ball under his belt and he has improved tremendously since last fall when he hit .269. With St. Paul he batted .285 and hit only five homers in 99 contests. His previous two years were spent with Grand Forks in the Northern League where he clouted seven circuit wallops in 1941 and 12 the following year. His BA was .277 and .289, respectively, for 87 games each season.

The 205-pounder is a natural ball hawk and certainly is more useful than was Greenberg when Hank broke in with Hartford, Conn., in the Eastern League some 14 years ago.

Howie looks lackadaisical on the field but there's not much that escapes his huge mitts, and that brings up another point. Schultz is one of the reasons Leo Durocher can afford to alternate Frenchy Bordagaray, Gil English and Bobby Bragan on third, and play a new Keystone combination of Bill Hart and Luis Olmo, converted outfielder.

Invariably does a day pass but that Schultz doesn't save the Dodger infield at least one error. He grabs the low ones as well as the high ones.

When the guy spoke of the long arm of the law, he must have been looking at Schultz because Howie really can stretch.

His skyscraper stature kept him out of military service. When the current season closes Schultz will return to Hamline university to continue a course in business administration. He expects to get his sheepskin in February.

Opportunity Is Offered Salem For Crack At The State Title Next Week

With a pep rally today to urge them on and a chance to send a good-sized squad to the state finals next Friday and Saturday in Columbus, the Salem High Quakers will be after a district title tomorrow at Reilly stadium when 21 other high schools will be here to take part in the annual NEO district meet.

Salem's Quaker squad has a golden opportunity in the state's largest meet as it is the only district affair in which four entries from each event will be eligible to go to Columbus.

Because of the extra-large size of the Salem affair athletic Commissioner H. R. Townsend ruled yesterday that four places will win the right to a Columbus trip next week instead of the usual two. The meet here is over twice as large as any of the other nine meets in the state.

Class A eliminations are being held Saturday at Uhrichsville, Cleveland (two meets), Bowling Green, Mansfield, Marietta, Springfield and Cincinnati. These affairs all include about 10 or 12 teams each.

Salem's opportunity, in that they are rated second or third in the meet here, is an exceptional one. In all probability, if the Quaker men could place as well or better than they have been, the Salem team would have as strong a representation in Columbus as the 1943 champions, Cleveland East Tech.

Strength in Numbers
If the old saying means anything, strength makes numbers, etc. Cope's squad should have a good chance to get in the bidding for the state title by copping a goodly share of the Columbus chances here tomorrow.

Two big obstacles stand in their way—one is Akron North and the one man powerhouse, Johnny Murphy, and the other is Akron East's strong club. Cope is confident that his team can nose out the East team, but some real steam will have to be applied to edge Akron North.

Fans will be watching tomorrow for some of the state's best who will be here to put on a show. Murphy of Akron looms as the meet's individual star—if he performs like he has been in the larger meets throughout the district.

Another top-notch comes from Ravenna, where he has been winning nearly all the points for his team this year. Big 200-pound Joe Mascio, former football and basketball star, not only tosses the shot well over 500 feet at times, but runs three dash events in near-record time. He takes over in the 440, does the 100 in close to 10 flat, and steps out in the 220-yard dash.

Salem won't be left out of the individual ranks either, with both Charlie Dunlap and Flick Entriaken to hold up local honors. Both men promise to at least get into the state meet and have a good opportunity to be high men in the meet here.

Preliminaries at 9 a. m.
Dunlap can leap far enough in the broad jump to win it hands down. Entriaken took the pole vault at Canton McKinley and should be able to repeat tomorrow. Both Quaker stars have other good chances in their three extra events and are being counted on by Cope to amass a portion of the Salem total.

Tony Hoover, who has been improving his time in the mile and half mile, might come through and take first. He copped second in Canton and wasn't very many steps behind the winner.

Preliminaries get underway at 9 a. m. Saturday. Finals in the discus and shot put will be run off in the morning but the other finals won't get started until 1:30 p. m. when pole vaulting begins. The field events will start at 2 p. m. and Cope expects all to be over by 6.

POTTERS TROUCE NEWS 11-4, PAXSON DOWN SHEENS 7-5

Chinas Go On Hitting Spree To Oust News' Pitcher In Fifth

Mutt Schaeffer turned in the best pitching show of the young softball season yesterday as he held the Sheens squad with three hits as his Paxson team copped their first win 7-5 and the Salem Chinas swamped the News aggregation, 11 to 4, behind the tight pitching of Dale Ritchie.

In spite of the five runs scored by Sheens, Schaeffer set them down with just three hits—a pair of singles by Jay Leach and Dick Scullion and a long homer to left center by Francis Lanney in the fifth. Errors set up the four runs in the first inning after Scullion's hit had started things.

In the night-cap the News took a trouncing as the Chinas banged Chet Brautigam for five hits and six runs in the second inning and added misery in the fourth when Kenst carved out a four bagger with three men on.

Take 10-0 Lead
Dale Ritchie held the News down with one hit for four innings—long enough to pile up a 10-0 lead—and then Morrison took over the assignment. The News clicked for four runs from the new hurler, two in the fifth and a pair in the last.

The Sheens-Paxson struggle got off to an interesting start with lots of hits and errors in the first inning. Paxsons started it off when Lanney walked the first two batters and Mutt Schaeffer laid out a nice single. A double by Tom Paparadis helped things along and he scored after Brian had walked and Scullion had made an error.

Sheens came back to equal the Paxson four run spree. Scullion singled to start, Appedisian walked and an error put Davis on first. Two more errors tied the game up at 4-4. Things went along fine until the fifth when Sheens were outdone one run by Paxsons. Scullion singled, Pete Cibula doubled, scoring Schaeffer and Paparadis' single brought Cibula in for the second marker.

Lanney's homer, which was far enough out to give him lots of running time, accounted for the only other Sheen score. The Paxson outfit added another in the seventh for good measure.

The News-China game was all Ritchie for four innings as the veteran put the batters down in order until Charlie Malloy got the lone hit in the fourth.

China batters pounded Brautigam for ten hits in his four innings and coupled with three errors, 10 runs gave the Chinas plenty of breathing space for the rest of the game. Orrie Wright took over for the News and allowed three hits in three innings for one run.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, May 19—Since the death of Lord Lonsdale, the great British sportsman, boxing folk have been wondering if anyone will continue the custom of giving belts to champions who successfully defend their titles three times. . . . These awards have been made for over 100 years and in that time only about a half dozen have been won outright.

QUOTE, UNQUOTE
Arnold S. Denker: "All the time I was winning the national chess title, I kept thinking about the lug that touted me off Pensive."

A ROOKIE A DAY

Augie Bergamo, Cardinals' outfielder, Augie isn't a regular now, but with Stan Musial and Dan Lity- whaler listening for Uncle Sam's call he figures to become an important figure in the Cards' plans. . . . Up from Columbus where he led the American association in drawing passes and tied for the lead in hitting two baggers. Compiled a .324 batting average with plenty of clutch hits.

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE

Sun again is the third $100,000 winner bred by Warren Wright, Pensive, the Derby-Preakness winner, also has earned more than 100 G's but wasn't bred at Calumet farm. . . . Red Faber, the old White Sox pitcher, will be chief coach at a four-week baseball school sponsored by the Oak Park, Ill., playground board next month. . . . Slip Madigan, Iowa grid coach, took a temporary job delivering newspapers in Oakland, Calif., recently when his 12-year-old son was too sick to look after his route. . . . Bucky Walters has started 201 games since he joined the Reds in 1938 and has finished 146 of them.

LAST QUESTION

Has Judge Landis ruled yet on how and when those "incomplete" games should be counted in the polls that pay off on total scores for the week?

Yesterday's Stars

(By Associated Press)

Thurman Tucker, White Sox—Tripled with bases loaded in tenth to beat Yankees, also singled in first to hold 4-0 batting average.
Virgil (Spud) Davis, Pirates—Capped Pittsburgh four-run spurt in last of ninth with single driving in Babe Dahlgren to down Brooklyn.
George Myatt, Senators—Batted in two runs with double during Washington's winning spurt in sixth against Cleveland.
Whitey Kurowski, Cardinals—Ruined Al Javery's no-hit bid with single in seventh, batting in both runs of 2-0 St. Louis win.
Ken Raffensberger, Phils—White-washed Cincinnati with three singles, striking out four men.

Schultz Looks Like Great Find

By FRANK ECK

AP Features Sports Writer

BROOKLYN—When the Dodgers sold Joe Medwick to the Giants last July and then traded Dolf Camilli, the bleacher fans at Ebbets field dropped their cowbells and began yelling for Branch Rickey's scalp. The did everything but accuse the Mahatma of breaking up the team. But that wasn't Branch's intention at all. His idea was to bring on likely looking youngsters. They called it the youth movement along the banks of the Gowanus. Today Rickey's foresight is beginning to pay dividends.

He obtained Howie (Stretch) Schultz, a long dping of water—6 feet 6½ to be exact—from St. Paul. Schultz is making some optimistic promises to make fans forget Camilli. Coach John (Red) Corriden really goes out on a limb.

"Schultz looks like he might be another Hank Greenberg," says Corriden. "Why the boy is growing all the time. You can't make a mistake when he's at the plate because he's really putting wood to that horsehide."

Schultz was the talk of the Eastern section of the National League the first two weeks of the season. He belted four home runs in 11 games. Last year he hit only one round tripper in 45 games with the Dodgers.

The 21-year-old blond giant has only three seasons of organized ball under his belt and he has improved tremendously since last fall when he hit .269. With St. Paul he batted .263 and hit only five homers in 99 contests. His previous two years were spent with Grand Forks in the Northern League where he clocked seven circuit wallops in 1941 and 12 the following year. His BA was .277 and .289, respectively, for 87 games each season.

The 205-pounder is a natural ball hawk and certainly is more graceful than was Greenberg when Hank broke in with Hartford, Conn., in the Eastern League some 14 years ago.

Howie looks lackadaisical on the field but there's not much that escapes his huge mitts, and that brings up another point. Schultz is one of the reasons Leo Durocher can afford to alternate Frenchy Bordagaray, Gil English and Bobby Bragan on third, and play a new Keystone combination of Bill Hart and Luis Olmo, converted outfielder.

Invariably does a day pass but that Schultz doesn't save the Dodger infield at least one error. He grabs the low ones as well as the high ones.

When the guy spoke of the long arm of the law, he must have been looking at Schultz because Howie really can stretch.

His skyscraper stature kept him out of military service. When the current season closes Schultz will return to Hamline university to continue a course in business administration. He expects to get his sheepskin in February.

Howie looks lackadaisical on the field but there's not much that escapes his huge mitts, and that brings up another point. Schultz is one of the reasons Leo Durocher can afford to alternate Frenchy Bordagaray, Gil English and Bobby Bragan on third, and play a new Keystone combination of Bill Hart and Luis Olmo, converted outfielder.

Invariably does a day pass but that Schultz doesn't save the Dodger infield at least one error. He grabs the low ones as well as the high ones.

When the guy spoke of the long arm of the law, he must have been looking at Schultz because Howie really can stretch.

His skyscraper stature kept him out of military service. When the current season closes Schultz will return to Hamline university to continue a course in business administration. He expects to get his sheepskin in February.

A Model is Murdered ~ BABS LEE

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

Argus grinned. He paused for a brief instant in front of Cynthia Lane's dressing room. Then he shrugged and sauntered toward the bathroom. He edged his way through a group of women and spoke to the captain. The latter bowed and led Argus to his table near the runway.

"Can one get any liquid refreshments at this little affair?" Argus asked.

"Certainly, sir. But there will be a charge, sir."

"Bring me a double Scotch," Argus said. Then added: "Wait a second." He had caught sight of a blonde girl sitting alone at a table directly opposite. It was Dorry. "On second thought," Argus said, "bring my drink to Table 19."

"Yes, sir."

Argus got up and crossed to where Dorry was sitting. "Hello," he said. "Mind if I sit down?"

"Why, Mr. Steele? What are you doing here?" Dorry asked, smiling at him. "Do sit down." Her appearance had changed materially since the night before. She was wearing hardly any make-up and her gold hair was combed into a smooth bob under a smart black hat. There were dark rings under her eyes, as though she hadn't slept well, and she was very pale.

"Will you have a drink?" Argus suggested.

"No. No thanks. I'm meeting some friends in a little while and we're going to have tea."

"Is Bill with you?" Argus asked, sliding his long legs under the table.

"No," Argus thought she looked troubled. Dorry's eyes avoided his. "You know," said Argus, "I never did know your last name."

Dorry hesitated a second. "I'm Bill's wife," she announced.

"Oh!" Argus pursed his lips and regarded her reflectively. "When did that happen?"

"About a week ago. We've been lucky. Only a few people know. We didn't want a lot of reporters around and all."

"Bill's father knows?"

"Yes. He wanted us to get married."

"Thought maybe marriage would straighten Bill out, eh?" Argus asked. Dorry nodded.

"Well," commented Argus, "that should be a life's work."

"I don't mind," said Dorry. "I know Bill's been a little wild, but he's a good kid really. He's just had too much money and his father's been too busy to look after him. His mother died when Bill was very young." The waiter brought Argus' drink.

"Sure you won't change your mind?" Argus asked. Dorry shook her head. "How's this marriage working out?"

"He was getting better, until—" Dorry broke off hastily.

"Until he got mixed up with Syria Verne," Argus queried. "By the way, do you have a license to carry a gun?" Dorry looked paler than ever.

"What do you mean?"

"Last night," said the detective, "you had a gun. Ellen Curtis saw it when it fell out of your bag."

"Oh, that . . ." faltered Dorry, endeavoring to appear unconcerned.

"What were you doing with it?"

"Mr. Steele, will you tell me just why I should answer that?"

"I just think it might be a good idea," said Argus. She looked at him warily for several seconds.

"Very well, I'll tell you. I bought that gun. I thought maybe Bill might get into trouble. He has a temper when he's drinking and—"

"Where is the gun now?" Argus asked.

"I threw it away."

"Where?"

"In a trash can on Third avenue. I don't remember what street."

"Why?" Argus pressed. "Did you think you wouldn't need it any more?"

"Yes, yes, that was it," Dorry replied. She was breathing faster.

"Where did you go after you left the Penguin Club last night?"

"I don't remember exactly. I know I got home—Bill took me home," she ended abruptly. "I don't know why you should be asking—"

"To get back to that gun you threw away—where did you buy it?"

"Why—from—from—"

"Careful. You know I can check on it," Argus warned. "You found that gun in your husband's possession, didn't you? And you were worried, because he drank so much that he might accidentally shoot some one, weren't you?"

Dorry hung her head. "No," she said.

"Where are you and Bill living?" Argus went on. "With his father?"

"No. We have our own apartment."

"Why were you wearing all that war paint last night? You look much better au naturel."

"I was trying to be a glamour girl, I guess," Dorry said wistfully. "I'm sort of colorless and—"

"How did you meet Bill?"

"I was studying dancing. I met Bill about three months ago. Her whole face brightened as she mentioned his name.

"Bill was phoning Syria Verne last night, wasn't he?" Argus asked. He looked down at his drink. Dorry didn't reply. She was staring at the entrance to the bathroom.

"My friends are coming," she said. Argus saw two middle-aged women approaching. "They used to teach me piano, in Ohio," Dorry explained.

"Well, I guess I'll be leaving," said Argus rising. "See you later, Dorry. You may be able to help me. S'long." He returned to his own table.

Argus looked around the room. It was packed. Blue smoke floated ceilingward like a cloud of gossip. A group of men were sitting together facing the stage at the end of the runway. Argus recognized both Sturgis and Flagg. He wondered why the show didn't begin.

Presently the lights dimmed. The orchestra struck up a soft dance tune. There was a lull in the noise. A hush fell over the gathering. A baby spot stage. A youngish woman, smartly tailored, stepped from behind the curtains. She walked up to the microphone. There was a faint ripple of applause. The woman bowed and then held up her hand for silence.

"This afternoon," she began in a pleasant voice, "we take great pleasure in presenting to you the latest creations from our leading American couturiers. The gentlemen at the end of the runway, another spot turned on them, "are among the foremost artists and illustrators." There was polite applause. "These gentlemen will be our judges this afternoon in selecting the most attractive ensemble in each of our types of clothes. At the end of the show, Mr. Roger Flagg, one of New York's famous model-agents, will tell you why each costume was selected as being the best, in the opinion of the judges. And now—on with the show!" A large spotlight was trained directly on the stage.

The curtains parted to show a tableau of four girls in bathing suits bouncing a huge rubber ball back and forth against a setting of palm trees and Florida scenery. Ellen was in the group. She was wearing an abbreviated blue beach costume.

One by one the girls left the stage and marched down the runway. They paused in front of the judges and primped so as to present every aspect of their costumes. As Ellen passed Argus, she winked. Ellen certainly held her own with any of the models in the dressing room. Argus decided, when it came to pert and saucy figures. She moved on. Another model took her place. She was a voluptuous brunette wearing a one-piece suit of red sequins that fit her contours better than the proverbial glove.

After the bathing-suit parade came the spring prints and street clothes. Argus' interest abated somewhat. He looked down at his drink and when he raised his eyes again, he was staring into Cynthia Lane's face. She looked scared. She was standing just over him on the runway and as she turned she tossed a crumpled ball of paper on his table. Then she moved away. Quickly Argus opened the folded wad. A message was scrawled on it in pencil:

Come to my dressing room, 304, during intermission. Don't let anyone know. Urgent. Cynthia Lane

The curtain came down. Argus applauded with the others. Then he sauntered casually from the ballroom. He encountered Ellen on the way to Cynthia's dressing room. (To be continued.)

Inseparable In Death

NEW YORK, May 19. — Four-year-old Irene Richie and her twin brother, Richard, were inseparable, sharing everything, always looking out for each other.

Yesterday they started playing together on a grassy plot near the East river. Grown-ups told them to be careful. But the twins apparently were so engrossed in each other they paid no heed.

Suddenly other children shouted. Irene, they said, had toppled into the water, been swept away in the rip tide. Richard had jumped in after her. The last were seen together.

Police are grappling for the children, one of four sets of twins born to Mr. and Mrs. William Richie.

Maintenance of a single soldier overseas requires about 65 pounds of supplies per man per day.
